The National Center for Systems Security and Information Assurance (CSSIA) 2014 - 2015 Sponsorship Packages

Cybersecurity in businesses is essential as cybercrime is one of the most significant threats to America. Companies struggle to find top-notch cybersecurity professionals and academia is working hard to keep up with this demand. Businesses, government agencies and academia's partnerships are critical to address the country's cybersecurity workforce shortage.

Acknowledging this need, The National Center for Systems Security and Information Assurance (CSSIA) has put together various sponsorship packages to give businesses an opportunity to support CSSIA in building cybersecurity defense programs nationwide. Also, by supporting CSSIA, your company will have a competitive advantage to recruit from the next generation of cybersecurity specialists while supporting academia's efforts in preparing students for the workforce.

Determining Sponsorship Level with Product Donations

Personnel

Volunteering time, while greatly appreciated, is not considered a deductible donation under current IRS guidelines. As such, we cannot consider volunteer time when calculating donations, gifts, or sponsorship levels.

Additional Sponsorship Information

If a 501(c)3 donation letter is desired, it must be requested in advance of the event. If a monetary contribution of this nature would be offered, we would refer you to the organization working with CSSIA. Hardware, software, and volunteers would not qualify.
